AID DISBURSEMENT TIMELINE

Financial aid, including grants, loans, and scholarships, is disbursed at the start of each semester, typically within the first 10 business days after classes begin. Aid cannot be disbursed until a student's enrollment is confirmed at or above the credit hour threshold their aid package requires.

REFUND POLICY

If disbursed aid exceeds a student's tuition and fee balance, the remaining amount is refunded directly to the student within 14 days of disbursement. Refunds are issued by direct deposit if a student has enrolled in direct deposit, or by paper check otherwise, which adds approximately one additional week.

WORK-STUDY ELIGIBILITY

Federal work-study eligibility is determined by a student's financial aid application and is awarded as part of the overall aid package. Work-study earnings are paid biweekly as wages, not disbursed as a lump sum, and do not count against a student's loan or grant totals.

SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS

To remain eligible for federal financial aid, students must maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress: a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0 and successful completion of at least 67% of attempted credit hours. Falling below this threshold can result in aid suspension even if a student is not on academic probation.

APPEALS

Students whose aid is suspended for failing to maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress may submit a written appeal to the Financial Aid Office, typically due to documented extenuating circumstances such as illness or family emergency. Appeals decisions are issued within 3 weeks of submission.
