

Registration Guide

ADD/DROP DEADLINES

Students may add or drop a course without penalty during the first two weeks of the semester. Dropping a course between week 3 and week 9 results in a 'W' (withdrawal) on the transcript, which does not affect GPA. Courses cannot be dropped after week 9 except by petition to the Dean's office.

COURSE LOAD REQUIREMENTS

Full-time undergraduate status requires enrollment in at least 12 credit hours per semester. Students enrolled in fewer than 12 credit hours are considered part-time, which may affect financial aid eligibility and on-campus housing eligibility. The maximum course load without special approval is 18 credit hours.

WAITLISTS

When a course section is full, students may join a waitlist of up to 10 students. Waitlisted students are automatically enrolled, in order, if a seat opens up before the add/drop deadline. After the add/drop deadline passes, waitlists are cleared and no further automatic enrollment occurs.

REGISTRATION HOLDS

A registration hold prevents a student from adding or dropping courses until it is resolved. Common holds include unpaid tuition balances, missing immunization records, and unresolved academic probation requirements (see the Academic Standing Policy). Holds related to financial aid disbursement timing are described separately in the Financial Aid Handbook.

TRANSFER CREDIT

Credits transferred from another institution must be evaluated by the Registrar before they count toward course load or degree progress. Transfer credit evaluation typically takes 2-3 weeks and should be requested before registration opens each semester.
